GOVERNOR LEAVES CHICAGO ANGRY

Convention in Doubt How to Understand the Direct Insult at the National Committee--May Be a Bolt.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Chicago, June 22.—Just what will be the effect of the direct insult to the national committee and the committee on credentials by the governor of Wisconsin and his faction is not known this morning but the general sentiment is that the long talked of third party idea of the Wisconsin governor is about to be consummated. However, the governor has delivered his last shot at the national republican party and has departed for his home, leaving but little doubt as to his bolt from the republican party behind him. The present action of the disgruntled Wisconsin faction has created no little surprise. The idea that one man or one faction of any state should place itself greater than the whole national party and offer direct insults to that party was not thought of before. The Wisconsin situation has caused as much surprise as did the bolt of Senator Teller of Colorado at the St. Louis convention of 1896 and while it is not as sensational as was Mr. Teller's still the insult is more direct and the feeling more bitter against the Wisconsin man than it was against Senator Teller.

Is it a Bolt?

On every hand can be heard the question, "is this a bolt on the part of La Follette from the national republican party and does he mean to establish a third party which he talked of at his Chautauqua address in which he denounced Hanna, Quay and Platt, and spoke in a derogatory manner of other old-line leaders of the republican party?" Present opinions are that the Wisconsin faction has bolted the national convention. Just what this will mean next November is not known but one thing is certain and that is Wisconsin will be a battlefield of the giants of the republican party this summer and fall and if the state is not carried for Cook and the regular republicans it will not be the fault of the campaign committee.

The Insult

The credentials committee of the convention opened its work yesterday afternoon by hearing a final and sensational statement from the La Follette faction of the Wisconsin republicans. Then, considering his case lost, Gov. La Follette left Chicago on a 6 o'clock train for home. His declaration was that the matter would be carried to the polls in November. After the governor had departed and the case was supposed to be closed, the credentials committee resumed consideration of the dispute and was so engaged at 1 o'clock this morning.

Decision to Hear Case

When the committee assembled shortly after the close of the convention's afternoon session, Senator McComas, who had been made chairman, suggested the whole controversy should be thrown out of court. But he was overruled by a majority of the members, who wanted to hear the details of the strife between Senators Spooner and Quarles and the governor's faction.

Then it was that Gov. La Follette stepped in and pulled down his side of the quarrel. This act was accompanied by a written statement in which the "half breeds" set forth their grievances.

Tells Why He Dropped Fight

In the withdrawal papers was found the following statement: "The national committee did not examine our record or appoint any sub-committee to do so, but at the close of the argument, immediately decided the contest upon the conflicting and wholly contradictory oral statements of counsel for the respective parties. The conduct of the committee in deciding the contest immediately without examining the records or any of the credentials of delegates made it clear that the case had been determined by them in advance of its presentation."

"We now find on the credentials committee a number of the gentlemen who as members of the national committee were most active in their support of the cause of the contesting delegates. Every member of the credentials committee, as we are informed, has been approached in advance of the hearing for the purpose of securing a determination of the contest in favor of the contesting delegates. Believing, in view of the foregoing, that it would be futile to present our cause before this committee, we prefer to rest it with the republican voters of the state of Wisconsin for their determination."

The statement was signed by Isaac Stephenson, Robert M. La Follette, J. N. Stout, and W. D. Connor.

Case Goes to Subcommittee

That statement was supposed to be the "last word," but in the evening M. G. Jeffris, an attorney from Janesville, was heard in defense of the republicans. This led to the appointment of a subcommittee consisting of Gov. Durbin of Indiana, E. C. Henton of Massachusetts, and John J. Gardner of New Jersey, with instructions to go over all the records in the case and report back to the full committee. This report was awaited at midnight.

Reply to La Follette

Early in the evening the conservatives, upon leaving the committee room, were handed the La Follette statement, and retired to the office of the sergeant at arms to formulate a reply. Senator Quarles said: "They were simply afraid to meet us on the floor of the convention or before the committee on credentials. Then they insulted every member of the national committee and every member of the credentials committee and went away."

A flat statement that they understood some members of the committee had been approached was made. What the nature of the approach might be, or by whom made the La Follette people declined to state. They entered into no particulars, simply making the broad and general charge of an approach, and withdrawal.

Tracy will take the mile, half mile and probably quarter. Myers though he has broken on training is expected to carry off the quarter, the 220 yard and the 100 yard dashes. He will also enter the low hurdles and probably the half mile.

LED TROOPS INTO AN AMBUSCADE

Japs Surround Nine Thousand Russians in a Ravine and Inflict a Heavy Loss Upon Them.

(Special by Scripps-Mellae.)

London, June 22.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from New Chwang says: "While a Russian force of eight thousand under General Krondratsvitch was traversing a ravine nine miles southeast of Kai Chow on June 19th, they were surprised by a concealed Japanese artillery. Russians lost heavily, the casualties being twelve hundred."

Severe Fight. St. Petersburg, June 22.—A telegram reached here that a severe battle lasting two days was fought near Hal Cheng, Lio Tung peninsula. It is rumored the Russians' casualties were 163 officers and five thousand men.

Severe Defeat for Russians

St. Petersburg, June 22.—The Gazette announces a sanguinary battle at Halcheng and that the Russians retreated with heavy losses.

London, June 22.—All attention is focused upon the rumored battle at Halcheng on Monday, but the facts still are impossible to learn.

A St. Petersburg dispatch describes it as the bloodiest battle yet fought. The Russians are said to have been severely defeated and to be retreating to Liaoyang. The source of this and other stories cannot be traced and the facts may prove different.

There seems, however, little reason to doubt there has been further severe fighting, though the result is only conjectural.

The rumored capture of Liaoyang is discredited here.

Newchwang, June 22.—It is reported here that Japanese cavalry attacked Liaoyang at a late hour last Saturday. An American missionary here is informed from a native source that fighting was continued Sunday and the town was captured on Monday afternoon.

A northeast wind brought sounds of firing from the direction of Halcheng for several hours Monday afternoon.

Flashes of artillery fire were visible in the sky in that direction all night.

Liaoyang Report is Discredited.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—A dispatch was received from Liaoyang under date of June 21 praising the work of the Red Cross as observed by a correspondent at the battle of Vafangow. This effectively disposes of the report from Newchwang that Liaoyang had been captured by the Japanese on June 20.

Paris Has Halcheng Story.

Paris, June 22.—A St. Petersburg correspondent states that a private telegram has been received there from Liaoyang saying a great battle was fought at Halcheng, in which the Russians are said to have lost 5,000 men.

Halcheng Battle is Denied.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—The reports of heavy fighting at Halcheng, are denied by the general staff. The Japanese are continuing to advance from Shuyin, and there are continuous skirmishes between outposts, but no further advance of Gen. Oku's army has been reported.

The Russian losses at the battle of Vafangow are turning out to be heavier as the reports of the various regiments come in. They are now placed by a conservative official statement at 4,000, but a usually well informed authority expects the total to be no less than 6,500.

SHE TELLS OF WONDERFUL

Florence—Historic Spots of Famous Country Are Visited and Discussed.

Florence, Italy. (Special Correspondence to The Gazette) June 5, 1904. For a few weeks we shall be constantly moving, going to Venice, June 9th, to Milan, June 15th, to Lucerne, and the various points of interest in Switzerland, until July 1st, after which we shall be in Paris for a fortnight. While in Rome we again met some friends who had just returned from Tangiers and they said the day after they left that city an American and his son were captured by bandits and held for ransom, threatening to put out the eyes of the prisoners if the money did not come at once. Doubtless you have read of it and know how it came out. The streets there are lined with people who have had their eyes gouged out for minor offenses so that punishment is of commensurate.

During the last few days of our stay in Rome we visited the Doria gallery. The finest portrait of Innocent X. some landscapes. The most important, too, though Ruskin criticizes them as a great deal. The important works of art in Rome are so widely distributed that one needs a good deal of time to see them all. At a church Santa Maria del Pace, which is a very old one, in a dirty part of the city, completely surrounded by dingy houses, we found after a good deal of difficulty Raphael's Sibyls, which Christ in marble is in "Sopra Minerva", another old church. The figure was made when Angelo made it, but some pope ordered a bronze drapery put on it and one foot has a bronze shoe to protect it from the kisses of the populace.

Two evenings we went to the opera house where the play commences at nine o'clock and lasts until one o'clock. The house differs from American play houses in that the rows of boxes run from left to right, making a horse shoe. We had a box directly opposite the stage and were able to see well. Between men and women stand up all with their hats on and turning their backs to the stage level their opera glasses at whom they will. Ladies always wear their beautiful hats throughout the performances. A ballet from Milan assisted by a hundred and more performers gave the evening entertainment. We have never seen in America such costumes and fine scenic effects.

Leaving Rome, after having visited the fountain de Trevi and having drunk of its water and thrown in a coin to insure another return to Rome, we passed through Orvieto, mentioned in "Eleanor" and arrived at Siena, an old Tuscan town where we spent a day of two. The town like other old cities, is built upon a high bluff and has a wall for defense about it. The country between Rome and Florence is beautiful now. Every inch of tillable soil is cultivated. Not one weed can be seen. The vine yards and fields of wheat with nodding red poppies, and the clover patches are delightful. The Italians are certainly industrious and frugal in these rural portions at least. The men cut all grain with scythes or cycles and women work in the fields everywhere. Oxen do the hauling. From Siena we took a drive to an old castle Belcaro. The trip was through lovely valleys and up winding roads with splendid views. The castle belongs to a family in Siena now but was an old fortress in about the 13th century. It is enchanting. In Siena there is a fine old cathedral built of brick and white marble in horizontal stripes which are not pleasing to the eye at first but the exterior has exquisitely carved figures and thousands of them. The building, although considered one of the best in the world, is only one-fourth of the size at first planned by Maestro Landi, but owing to the plague of which so many men died making labor high the first plan was abandoned. The lively where are beautiful illuminated choir books and fine frescoes about the walls was very interesting. The house of W. Catherin is in Siena. She was born in 134, claimed to have been the bride of Christ. No doubt she was a good woman and so many traditions have arisen about here that she is honored and revered all over Italy. Her unmuffled head, her smiling face, her stone pillow, are still shown. The town hall in Siena has a wonderful tower, before which all other towers seem insignificant, so Howells says. It is fine and has a clock with one hand and no numbers. Minutes are of no account to Italians anyway. It is always eleven until it is twelve. One of the things which mar the picturesque old place is the abundance of tanneries from which emanate unsavory odors.

We reached Florence May 28th, and we have found it delightful, and dislike to leave for Venice on June 8th, as we have planned to do. Our room overlooks a fragrant garden. Two magnolia trees are blossoming and the peach trees are loaded with small peaches. During our visit the city has been gay for a national athletic meet, has been in progress and the King Victor Emmanuel III. came for one day. Bands have passed by every hour with scores of young men in various uniforms following. It is 3rd in line of succession and is very much attracted to a young American lady who came over in our ship. The King is a nervous, high tempered man and is said never to smile. The fact that his father, Umberto I. was assassinated in 1900 may account for this as he probably fears the same fate. His mother, Dowager Queen Margherita, is simply adored by Italians. She lives in Rome. We noticed police in chains during the King's visit and saw officers insist upon having suspicious looking parcels opened. Last Sunday at 5:15 a. m. we witnessed a grand military review. At least 10,000 men, infantry, cavalry and artillery were on the field, the occasion being the celebration of the adoption of the constitution in 1861 or thereabouts. Count de Turin with gorgeous uniform, seated on a fine horse, and followed by men of high military offices, reviewed the army. The morning was perfect and the sight a fine one indeed. Thousands of people witnessed it. The cathedral here is large and imposing and its stained glass windows far surpass any we have seen. The bell tower or campanile stands by itself and is beautiful. Opposite is the baptistry, once a church, in which every child born in Florence is baptized. Fiesole is a suburb away up in the hills from which a fine view of Florence, with the Arno like abut, shimmering ribbon flowing its center, is obtained. The famous Ponte Vecchio, an ancient bridge on both sides of which are renowned goldsmiths' shops, is very quaint and pretty. Of course the Uffizi and Pitti galleries with their thousands of paintings and marbles are fascinating but quite beyond the power of assimilation in one short visit. One must visit them again and again to know a bit about art. We used all our choicest adjectives in describing the shops of Rome but these in Florence surpass them. One day we happened to go in to a shop where marble figures alone are sold and the proprietor, Mr. Iomannelli, spoke English and seeing our interest in the work, took us over to his brother's studio where models in clay were being made, and figures in marble were being chiseled. This man has an equestrian statue at Siena in the public square and one here. He competed with forty-five other Italian artists for the work and won the prize. A figure of the niece of Victor Hugo who resides here, was in clay. Such places are so fascinating and it is only by chance one gets into them. In Florence one sees the house of Dante, of the Brownings, the spot where Savonarola was burned at the stake and in the church Santa Croce, the tomb of Galileo, Michael Angelo and a fine monument to Dante, who however is buried at Ravenna.

An afternoon at Certosa, a monastery of the Carthusians, is well spent. There are only sixteen monks left, seven priests and nine lay brothers. The government has forbidden the orders to take novices, so as soon as these die the order will cease. The monastery is a large fine old building commanding excellent view of Florence. The sleek old priest who showed us around was justly proud of the place with its works of art dating from 1350, for in that year the order was founded. Our guide posed with much alacrity by a picturesque old well in the garden to have his picture taken. Returning one can stop just outside the gate Porta Romana for a visit to the Cantagalli factory where a ware of much renown is made. They take visitors all over the factory so that the entire process is seen.

Life among the cliff dwellers. Quaint Customs of Ancient Aboriginal Race Are Typified Among Natural Surroundings at World's Fair.

Famous caves of the Stone Age, as they exist today in the canyons of Arizona, New Mexico, and Colorado, are reproduced for the inhabitants of real Cliff Dwellers on The Pike at the World's Fair, and here the life of these ancient aborigines may be studied amid natural surroundings. Added ethnological interest is found in a large pueblo of Zuni and Mohave Indians who daily perform the historic snake dance and follow the strange customs of their tribes. These Indians are the descendants of ancient kings and are the remnants of a noble powerful race. They have not before been seen at any Exposition. Huge cliffs form the front of the concession and above these can be seen a towering peak which can be reached by a tortuous trail overhanging rocky ledges, deep fissures and caverns. Burros convey the visitor to the top of the crag, where the caves and their relics may be seen, and where a fine view is obtained of the busy scenes on The Pike below. Entrance to the city of Cliff Dwellers is through a tunnel which pierces the cliffs. The reverse side of the walls presents more caves and other mountain trails. A large structure of quaint architecture occupies the center of the village, and in this the Indians perform the dances of Kachina, the poetic dance and the dramatic snake dance. The Kachina is distinguished by the use of the heads of buffalo and bear, which are worn by the warriors over their heads to conceal the features. The Snake Kiva, a cavern reached by a ladder, the famous Dance Rock of Wopli, the Antelope and other interesting sights rise from each and sage growing in the rocks and sand. Long ladders reach to the roofs of the cliff dwellers, and potters, weavers, silversmiths, basketmakers and other Indian workers give the final touch to the attraction. The Janesville couple who are lucky enough to win the Gazette contest will see these wonders. Have you chosen your proxy as yet?

HOW TO OBTAIN A TRACT OF LAND

THE REGULATIONS REGARDING ROSEBUD AGENCY.

WHERE ENTRIES WILL BE MADE

What Methods Will Be Used in Disposing of the Tracts Which Are Opened to Settlement.

So many Janesville people are interested in the opening of the Rosebud agency lands for settlement during the month of July and so many inquiries have been made regarding the method of procedure that the following statement from the department of the interior which has the disposal of these lands in charge will interest many. There are two parties of Janesville people who will make entries who are now planning to leave Janesville the first week in July and many others will go as individuals later in the month:

The Explanation

U. S. Land Office Chamberlain, S. D., May 24, 1904. None but persons qualified to make homestead entry will be permitted to register for the Rosebud lands in Gregory county, S. D., opened by the act of congress of April 23, 1904 and the president's proclamation of May 13, 1904.

Qualifications to make a homestead entry are: Not the owner of more than 160 acres of land in any state or territory, a citizen of the United States, native born or naturalized by first or second papers; over the age of 21 years or the head of a family; bona fide intention to make entry and comply with the homestead laws of the United States for own use and benefit and not directly or indirectly for the use or benefit of any other person; has not since August 30, 1890, entered under the public land laws of the United States a quantity of land which with a legal homestead would make more than 320 acres; has not heretofore perfected or abandoned an entry under the homestead laws of the United States.

The following classes of persons may make second entries: Who prior to May 17, 1900 made final (five year) proof and payment of the price of the land in certain Indian reservations opened by the acts of congress of March 2, 1889.

Who prior to June 5, 1900, lost or forfeited a homestead entry. Who prior to June 5, 1900, commuted a homestead entry and paid the government price for the land; such persons cannot commute a second entry.

Persons otherwise qualified to make homestead entry, who, therefore made final proof and received final receipt for a homestead entry of less than 160 acres, may make an additional entry of a quantity of land which added to the former entry shall not exceed 160 acres.

Persons having a second or additional right should, before registering provide themselves with a memorandum giving the number and date of former entry, description of the land, office where made, and date and manner of its disposition or loss, as the case may be.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the Civil or Spanish-American wars or their widows, may by power of attorney appoint an agent and furnish him with a copy of discharge or other competent evidence of military service and honorable discharge. Such agent can register for one person so appointing him only, and for himself.

No person will be permitted to register more than once, or in any other than his true name. Any person who shall transfer his registration certificate will thereby lose all benefits of the registration, and be precluded from entering or settling upon any of said lands during the first sixty days.

As soon as registered each person will be given a certificate of registration which will entitle him to go upon and examine the land. This certificate must be preserved and presented with application by those entitled to make entry.

Dates of registration—July 5 to July 23, 1904, both days inclusive. Places of registration—Chamberlain, Yankton, Fairfax and Bonesteel, S. D.

Manner of registration—In person at the times and places mentioned. Drawing for right of entry begins July 28, 1904 at Chamberlain and continues until the names of all persons registered have been drawn.

Each person will be notified by postal card at the address given by him when registers of the drawing of his name, and of the time he must present his application to make entry. The drawing will be under the supervision and management of the secretary of the interior, through the commissioner of the general land office, and a committee appointed by him. Every safeguard to ensure fairness will be adopted. It is not essential that persons registered shall be present at the drawing unless they wish. No one will gain or lose anything by the time, place or order of his registration.

Persons whose names are drawn, thereby secure the right to make selection of the lands, and homestead entry therefore, in order of drawing, beginning with number one.

Entries begin August 8, 1904 at 9:00 a. m. at Bonesteel, S. D. The names of the first 100 drawn will be called on that day; the second 100 on the following day, and in like manner 100 on each day until the lands are exhausted.

If at the time of considering his regular application to make entry it shall be found that any applicant is disqualified from making homestead entry, his application will be rejected, notwithstanding his prior registration.

Honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the classes above mentioned or their widows, may file declaratory statements by agents duly appointed by power of an attorney. An agent so appointed can file for only one soldier or sailor.

Soldiers who file declaratory statements either in person or by agent must within six months after filing the same, make homestead entry for the tract filed upon, and establish a residence and reside upon and cultivate the land for a period, not less than one year, which added to their term of military service in the wars mentioned shall be equal to five years. Within six months after making entry the homestead claimant must establish a residence in a house on his claim, and thereafter reside continuously upon the land and cultivate the same for the period of five years.

Purchase Money and Fees—When to Be Paid

No fee whatever is required at the time of registration. Each person must procure and execute the proper and necessary papers for registration, for which notaries and other proper officers will be permitted to make a reasonable charge of twenty-five cents for each person. The executed papers must be presented by the person to the registering officer.

Those who become entitled by the drawing to make entry, must at the time of filing their homestead applications, pay the land office fees which amounts to $14 for 160 acres, and in addition thereto, $1 per acre for the amount of land embraced in the application. The fee for a soldier's declaratory statement is $2, payable at the time of filing the same, which must be in the order of the drawing.

At the end of two years, three years, four years and within six months after the expiration of five years respectively, from the date of making entry, the claimant must pay seventy-five cents per acre for the land embraced in his entry. Default in any payment at the time it becomes due, forfeits all right to the land, and the entry will be cancelled.

Fees and price of the land are the same to soldiers and sailors as other persons, and payments of the same commence at the time of making homestead entry.

Commutation of Entries At any time after fourteen months of continuous residence and cultivation, any person who shall have made a homestead entry for the lands in question, may make a commutation proof upon such entry, upon payment of the balance of the purchase price for the land then remaining unpaid, the land office fees and commissions.

No person will be allowed to settle upon any of the Rosebud lands until after October 8, 1904, except those who shall make entry therefor pursuant to the act of proclamation. CHAS. L. BROCKWAY, Register.

RAIN HAS BEEN OF BENEFIT

The Present General Conditions Now Seem Excellent for a Banner Year.

With the exception of a few local showers in the central and northern counties, some of which were accompanied with heavy rain and in one instance hail, practically no rain fell during the week.

The soil generally is becoming dry, especially in the southern portion of the state, and the growth of vegetation has been checked. While the lack of rain is not at all serious, it would be beneficial to all crops. The temperature conditions have been fairly equable, with moderately warm days and cool nights.

Winter wheat and rye have continued to make very substantial progress. There is generally sufficient moisture in the soil to mature these crops, and present conditions give promise of a very satisfactory yield. Rye is heading out well, especially in the southern counties.

Corn The corn crop as a whole is somewhat backward, the cool weather, especially at night, being unfavorable to rapid growth. In the southern counties it is somewhat more advanced than elsewhere, and has generally received the second working. The dry weather has been favorable for the destruction of weeds and the fields are generally clean. The plants appear strong and healthy but rather small.

Oats and Barley The dry weather has in most sections checked the rapid growth of these crops, but as yet has caused no apprehension of injury. Rain would be beneficial.

Potatoes The planting of the late potatoes was completed during the week with the soil in good condition. Early plantings have attained a good stand and are in promising condition.

Tobacco The dry weather has interfered with the setting of tobacco as well as with the growth of plants. There is general complaint of tobacco plants being small and of poor vitality. Several instances are reported where plants have died after being set. Rain is badly needed to fit the soil for this work.

Meadows and Pastures The dry weather has affected meadows and pastures more seriously than most other crops. Pastures are becoming short and in some localities are turning brown.

Meadows have made slow growth during the week. Clover is in bloom in the southern counties and gives promise of a good crop.

Minor Crops Peas are generally in satisfactory condition and promise a good crop, especially on well-drained land. Sugar beets are reported in excellent condition. Gardens need rain badly.

Fruit Strawberries are beginning to ripen, but rain is needed to mature the crop. Apples are generally satisfactory, and cherries and plums fair crops. The condition of the cranberry crop is excellent.

Southern Section Brooklyn, Green county: Some corn cultivated second time; some tobacco set; oats very short; some fields heading out; clover in bloom.—J. O. Wheelock.

Beloit, Rock county: Very dry, pastures getting brown, and small grains and grass suffering; corn doing nicely; potatoes looking good.—L. S. Mosely.

Poyette, Columbia county: Weather warm and dry; two or three light showers during the week; small grain doing well; corn small.—John Scott.

Potosi, Grant county: Nights rather cool for corn; rain very much needed; grain looking well; meadows rather light, and pastures getting short.—J. J. Tobin.

W. M. WILSON, Section Director.

MAKE A "BEE" FOR THE LATHERS HOME

Farmers Haul the Timbers for the New Structure, From Beloit to the Farm.

As a token of their good will twenty-six farmers Monday made a bee for the benefit of William J. Lathers, whose buildings were burned recently five miles northeast of Beloit. They went to Beloit with their teams, went to the Keeler Lumber Co.'s yards and hauled out lumber for the rebuilding of the destroyed structures. The action of his neighbors was greatly appreciated by Mr. Lathers.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workingman.

Any sober, reliable farm laborer in Denmark, who has served one term, the mortgage value of the little farm he covets—this value not to exceed $1,000—can buy the land by borrowing the other nine-tenths from a government fund. He gives a mortgage, on which he pays 3 per cent.

Brookton, Mass., is the best organized center in the shoe trade, having the greatest number of members in its shoe unions, and earning the highest average wages in the world under the best conditions.

The International Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators has now about 7,500 members.

Hawaiian longshoremen will organize and affiliate with the International Longshoremen's Association. The union has a membership of about 800 men, the majority of whom are Hawaiians and Portuguese citizens of the United States.

All over England the leaders of the trades union movement are standing for Parliament. In most instances they are leaving their old political affiliations and standing as "labor candidates," and announcing their bitter hostility to the court decrees that have done so much to undermine and destroy their organizations.

Metal Trades Association by the International Association of Machinists have been rejected, and officials of the latter threaten to call out 50,000 men in the U. S. to force the making of an agreement.

CARNEGIE MAKES GIFT TO LIBRARY

Noted Philanthropist Again Remembers Janesville with a Rare Volume.

Andrew Carnegie has presented the Janesville public library with another choice volume. American Natural History, a fine illustrated work by William T. Hornaday, will grace the shelves of the children's department. The book partakes largely of the nature of an encyclopedia, divided into five parts on animals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and fishes. It is richly illustrated with 227 drawings by Bead, Rungles, Sawyers and others and 116 photographs, besides charts and maps. The author says that the question, "How can nature be made available to the young?" is answered in one of two ways by the book. It is nicely bound in cloth with letters of gilt inscription. The presentation is the second of the kind of which the city library has been the happy recipient.

U. L. G. Hough of the West Shore Line was in the city yesterday on business.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vipers may look nice and smell nice, but the point is do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use." It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy, Special Agents.

OUR TRADE WITH CANADA.

Exports from the United States to Canada will be larger in the fiscal year about to end than in any preceding year. Reports just prepared by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics, show for the ten months for which figures are already received total exports to Canada amounting to 101 million dollars, against 98 millions in the corresponding months of 1903 and 89 millions in the same months of 1902. Going back to 1897, the year in which the Canadian reduction in tariff on imports from the United Kingdom went into effect, the figures of our exports to Canada during the ten months ending with April, 1897, are $51,903,579, or but one-half those of the ten months ending with April 1901.

The Canadian reduction of duty on imports from the United Kingdom and certain of its colonies began in April, 1897, with a reduction of 12 1/2 per cent. In 1898 this reduction was increased to 25 per cent, and in 1900 to 33 1/3 per cent, and has so continued up to the present time. A table showing the total exports from the United States to Canada, covering a long term of years, indicates that there has been a more rapid growth in exports to Canada since 1897, than at any period preceding that year. For the full fiscal year our exports to Canada were, in 1874, 41 million dollars; in 1884, 41 millions; in 1894, 56 millions; in 1897, the year in which the Canadian reduction of duty on imports from the United Kingdom occurred, 65 millions, and in 1901 seem likely to be nearly or quite 130 millions, and will exceed those of any preceding year.

Of imports into the United States from Canada the total for 1874 was, in round terms, 34 million dollars; in 1884, 38 millions; in 1894, 31 millions, and in 1901 will be about 45 millions. Comparing the growth of Canadian imports from the United States and the United Kingdom since 1879, the Canadian figures show imports for consumption: From the United States in 1897, $61,649,041, and in 1903, $137,605,193; from the United Kingdom, in 1897, $29,412,188, and in 1903, $58,896,901.

THE IOWA IDEA.

In speaking of the Wisconsin factional strife, Congressman Dolliver, of Iowa, said the other day, "We barely escaped a similar experience." Governor Cummins of the Hawkeye state is a good deal of a reformer, and his particular hobby is the tariff.

The conservative element in the party was not in accord with his views among the more radical class. The men who opposed him were dubbed the "Stand patners," a title that is likely to cling to the state for years to come.

It so happens, however, that conservative republicanism is in the majority and the stand pat has no occasion to regret that he wears the title, because he is on the winning side.

In the republican state convention, recently held, Governor Cummins was glad to accept the platform prepared by the men who did not agree with him, and this he done without reading it, saying that he knew it was all right. In view of this fact he was permitted as an act of courtesy to head the delegation at large to the national convention.

From present appearances, this is where the republicans of Iowa made a mistake, for while the Governor is subdued, he is not convinced, and he may make an effort to commit the state, through resolutions, to his policy.

The Republican National Convention will not tinker with the tariff, however much erratic Governors like Cummins and La Follette may seek for notoriety along this line. The country is not suffering for tariff reform any more than the state is suffering for the primary law. The era of prosperity which has blessed the nation for the past six years, will continue if not demoralized by freak legislation.

The "Iowa Idea," and Wisconsin ideas as developed during the past four years, are a menace to the welfare of the people, and it is well for the good of the nation that the republican national party is no influenced by them.

WALL STREET HISTORY.

Henry Clews, L. L. D., the New York banker and board of Trade operator, is one of the oldest and best known men on Wall Street today. Mr. Clews just brought out the eighth edition of his famous book, "Twenty-Eight Years in Wall Street." It is brought down to date and covers a period of 46 years. The book contains 800 pages, and is filled with sketches of men who have figured prominently on the street during the last half century. It is well written and is both entertaining and instructive. The price is $1.50 and it may be obtained of Henry Clews & Co., New York.

Criticism of the National Committee by the governor's supporters only weakened his cause. When a man is defeated there is only one thing for him to do, and that is to submit gracefully. People have but little use for sore thumbs.

The republican party of Wisconsin is hampered by the yoke of La Folletteism. Unless it is released, demoralization will follow. The experience of Bryan democracy will be repeated on a smaller scale.

BELOIT ALUMNI HELD A BANQUET

Voted One Thousand Dollars to Equip Their New Gymnasium, Which is Dedicated.

The alumni association of Beloit college held its annual banquet last night. Stanley B. Lathrop, '67, of Ashland, read a poem. Officers elected: President, Frank C. Porter, '90, Yale divinity school; vice president, Alexander E. Matheson, '90, Janesville; secretary, Hiram D. Dismore, '86, Beloit; poet, H. S. Metcalf, '79, Mount Carroll, Ill.; alternate, Charlotte Ingersoll Morse, '99, Chicago.

The feature of the meeting was the raising of nearly $1,000 for the equipment of the gymnasium dedicated yesterday. The new Beloit college gymnasium was dedicated yesterday afternoon. The building is a model for the purpose for which it is intended, and cost $10,000. It is named after Eliza D. Smith of Menasha, whose heirs were very liberal in their donations for the building. President Eaton gave an address in commemoration of Mr. Smith. Prof. L. C. Chamberlain of the University of Chicago, Beloit, '66, made some remarks. The new gym will be ready for use in the fall.

AN OLD BACHELOR SAYS THAT—

Few women have time to look like their portraits.

The man who courts more than one girl at a time is courting trouble.

A little masculine remorse goes a long way with the average female.

When two women begin to talk things over they are sure to overtalk.

Love is a contagious disease that nothing short of matrimony will cure.

Marriages may be done in heaven, but there will always be a few doubters.

A woman's conversation is naturally flowery when she talks through her hat.

No man ever thinks enough of his mother-in-law to make his wife jealous.

It is usually a woman's failure to interest a man that causes her to hate him.

I once knew a married man who joined the army because he was tired of fighting.

Women ought to succeed as barbers; they possess all the conversational requirements.

After a woman has passed the seventeenth anniversary of her birth she delights in telling her age.

A woman's frame of mind has less to do with her reflections than the frame that holds her mirror.

WHAT ONE WOMAN THINKS.

Don't let the burdens of to-morrow break the back of to-day.

A similarity of tastes in jokes is a great assistant to marital felicity.

Some men are not to blame for not being gentlemen. They don't know how.

A woman never loves a man very long after she has ceased to admire him.

The road of prejudice is one of the most commonly traveled by the human multitude.

To be well preserved, a woman, like fruit, needs a good deal of sugar in her composition.

It is not our sins, but the times we've been a fool, that makes the habit of remembering an unpleasant one.

It is always a sad moment when Titania rubs the lotion off her eyes and notices Bottom's ears for the first time.

When a man can point with pride to the fact that he never changes his mind it indicates that he has none to change.

When a woman indicates by her manner that a man's attentions are not desired he commonly sets it down to the fact that she doesn't know enough to appreciate their value.—New York Times.

THIEVES CAME TO CIRCUS ALSO

J. P. BAKER'S SAFE WAS RELIEVED OF $17.

THREE HOUSES BURGLARIZED

And Pickpockets Lifted Pocketbooks from Charles Preller and P. J. Holland.

Several citizens took inventory this morning and found themselves much poorer as a result of the circus visit here yesterday. One of the most sensational episodes of the day was the robbery of J. P. Baker's safe with Fred Sheldon and Wilson Lane sitting less than ten feet distant. Shortly before seven o'clock last evening John Baumann sold an express order for $10 to a woman giving her name as Mrs. Ida Ringler, the order payable to Henry Ringler. The check was made out in the little office where the safe stands in the rear of the drugstore. He then placed the blanks and money in a small box in the safe and shortly thereafter left the store. Sometime after eight o'clock a heavy built man, medium height, with a light hat and two weeks growth of whiskers entered the store and made some inquiries about a railroad man by the name of Thompson which he wished to reach by phone. He was told that Agent Johnson was probably the man he wanted and he then went to the phone to look the name up in the telephone directory. After a few minutes he left but returned after while, stating that he had left a package. No attention was paid to him as he went back to the safe, took out the money drawer and walked out through the rear of the store and into the interurban station room. On his way he took what he wanted of the money, leaving the drawer, seventy-five cents, some keys and papers on a barrel of Venetian red in the paint shop. As near as can be estimated he got away with about $17. It is thought he was looking for the interurban money. The cigar box containing the express order receipts was overlooked.

Three Houses Entered
With the aid of a skeleton key the homes of Engineer Alfred H. Tallmadge of the North-Western road at 158 Locust street, the residence of Henry Hunt at 162 Locust, and that of Fred Wilkerson at No. 159, were entered during the parade yesterday morning. Some rings, a locket, and other jewelry and a small amount of money belonging to Mrs. Tallmadge were taken from her home. The children's toy savings banks in the Hunt home were pried open and the contents appropriated. A small amount of money was also collected in the Wilkerson residence. The thefts were not discovered until last evening as the doors had in every case been carefully locked again and scrupulous care taken to leave everything just as it had been found.

Dr. Buckmaster's Luck
While at the circus with his family yesterday afternoon Dr. Buckmaster lost a fine pocket-book which he prized very much which contained a number of valuable mementoes and some thirty dollars in money; also a number of papers which were with the pocket-book in his inside coat pocket. It appears that in leaving his seat the doctor dropped them between the boards to the ground and it was probably at this time that the contents left the pocket. He discovered his loss when he reached home and returned to make a fruitless search. Although it seemed impossible Dr. Buckmaster was convinced that his pocket must have been picked and was resigning himself to the loss this morning when he received a telephone message from a Miss Baer of Whitewater, telling him that she had found a pocket-book and papers belonging to him and would forward them.

Several Were Robbed
Others did not fare so well as Dr. Buckmaster. Charles Preller, watchman for the Jeffries Co., was relieved of $10 at the corner of Milwaukee and Main streets yesterday morning. P. J. Holland the shoeman was pocketed on the rear platform of the interurban car and relieved of a similar sum that was in one of his hip-pockets provided with a flap and two buttons.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN.

Catches Large Pickerel: Harry Lovejoy while fishing with a bass fly near the Big Rock in Monterey this morning caught a pickerel weighing eleven and a half pounds. It took three quarters of an hour from the time the pickerel struck until Lovejoy was able to land it and the fish is probably the largest specimen of pickerel caught this year in the close proximity of Janesville.

Installed Tonight: Rev. W. P. Christy will formally assume charge of St. Peter's English Ev. Lutheran church tonight. The sermon on the occasion will be delivered by the Rev. W. P. Erick D. D., Milwaukee. Rev. A. C. Anderson of Chicago will assist in the services. Mrs. Christine Hawley will sing.

LITTLE BOY WAS LOST AND FOUND

Ralphford Jones of Emerald Grove, Separated From Parents at Circus—Wandered to Buob Home.

At the close of the afternoon performance of the circus yesterday, nine-year old Ralphford Jones of Emerald Grove became separated from his parents and was lost in the crowd. The mother and father searched for him until a late hour but were unable to find any trace of him. In the meantime the little fellow had wandered down to South Main street and was as distressed as his parents. He was taken in charge by Mrs. Michael Buob and an effort was made to reach the parents by telephone. It was not until they had returned to Emerald Grove that they could be apprised. The mother came after the little fellow this morning.

A GREAT CROWD AT THE CIRCUS

RINGLING BROTHERS ENTERTAIN SEVENTEEN THOUSAND.

HOLIDAY BY COMMON CONSENT

Everybody Deserted Business to See the Big Parade in the Forenoon—Exhibition Pleased All.

Long before breakfast time yesterday the inflow from all parts of the county of visitors intent upon seeing once more the "greatest show on earth" had commenced. Long before the sun rose small boys, who droves of them, were at the depot to see the circus trains come in, to follow the great wagons to the grounds, and to watch the transformation of the vacant meadow land into a bustling city of 1,200 people.

The Carnival Spirit
With a fair sky and moderate temperature everyone was happy. The carnival spirit was in the air and even before the gorgeous pageant of glittering chariots, caparisoned horses, and strange wild beasts from desert and jungle had been proclaimed by the blarneyers, the oldest citizen had yielded to its sway and had forgotten everything save the hope of the triumph of the waving banners and the marvels which the great weather-beaten tents might hold in store.

The Big Parade
From the Y. M. C. A. building to the Myers hotel and all along South Main street the sidewalks overflowed with a surging, jostling, good natured throng and all the windows along these thoroughfares were crowded with expectant faces. The first detachment of the parade reached Milwaukee street about eleven o'clock and it required about a half hour for the whole caravansary to pass a given point. The mounted band in gorgeous uniforms of the United States, the floats of the nations, the pipe organ playing "The Holy City," the steam calliope, the open dens of lions and tigers, and scores of other features of wonder and delight. When the parade had passed, hundreds crowded into the hotels and restaurants and other hundreds carried their lunch baskets to the courthouse park. Still other hundreds, resolved on missing nothing, made their way to the grounds to see the free exhibition and the side-show freaks.

Seventeen Thousand There
Ringling Brothers' mammoth tented auditorium accommodated 17,000 people at the afternoon and evening performances. Over $2,500 for admissions was taken in at the People's drugstore branch office up-town and this was but a fraction of the total. Extra seats had to be provided to accommodate the crowd in the afternoon. The performance opened with the great spectacle of Jerusalem and the Crusades, introducing tournaments of armored knights, tableaux of historical events, and whole squadrons of gorgeously costumed dancing girls. The spectators were entranced with this stupendous spectacle. Nothing on its scale has ever before been attempted in this locality at least. Afterwards came the remarkable performing elephants, the wonderfully trained seals, the trapeze performers and the acrobats, the thrilling leap-the-gap act, the ludicrous clowns, and the hippodrome races.

Pleased With Menagerie
Many paused in the menagerie tent to take a parting look at the wild animals. The dens of remarkably fine lions and tigers were the center of an admiring crowd and those who waited to see these savage beasts fed were well rewarded. The baby elephant and the monkeys were favorites with the children. The "hippo" and the rhinoceros were in a lethargic state and received little more than a passing glance. The handsome pair of giraffes feeding from the tree tops were also greatly admired. In its entirety the menagerie was the best that has ever been seen here.

Warren Kitteridge
On June 19th at Medford Miss Lizzie D. Warren, daughter of George A. Warren of this city, and Mr. T. A. Kitteridge were united in marriage. Miss Warren has been assistant postmaster at Medford for several years past and Mr. Kitteridge is in the employ of the government being the gentleman who laid out the rural routes about this city. The happy couple are now in the east on their wedding trip.

PRETTY WEDDING HELD YESTERDAY

Former Janesville Girl Married a Milwaukee Gentleman Last Week.

Miss Nelle Martha Hubbard of Milwaukee, a former resident of this city and a graduate of the Janesville high school in the class of '99, was the bride at one of the prettiest home weddings in Milwaukee this season, she having been married to James Jackson Ward at high noon, Wednesday, June 15. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. T. Denman, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Hubbard, 49 Thirty-fourth street and was witnessed by a company of fifty relatives and friends including several former residents of Janesville.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. N. Thompson formerly Miss Amy Bowles, and during the entire ceremony she played "Faithful and True," from Lohengrin softly. Miss Hubbard was becomingly gowned in pale champagne crepe de chine, simply made over tulle, and carried marguerites. She was attended by Miss Grace Luhn of Sheboygan as maid of honor who entered the parlor with Palmer Hubbard of Chicago. The groom's attendant was his brother, Neville Ward and the bride was given away by her father. The parlor was handsomely decorated in green, white and pink, roses and snowballs being used in profusion.

The dining room was in white and green, two large hearts being outlined in marguerites on the bride's table and tied with broad white satin ribbons. A fine course luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward left on a wedding journey which will include visits to Chicago, St. Louis and Janesville. Mr. Ward is chemist for the E. A. ## NINE-YEAR-OLD GEO. SCHUMACHER DROWNED TODAY

Found a Watery Grave in the Mill Race at Monterey—Had Been Playing on Bridge.

While playing with some little companions on the bridge that spans and runs alongside the gates of the mill race at Monterey—a portion of the stream known as "the bulkhead"—eight-year-old George Schumacher, son of Gustav Schumacher who is employed at the Harris works, who had been living with his aunt Mrs. Fred Friday at her home, corner of Locust and Galena streets, climbed down on one of the stone piers and endeavored to catch one of the crabs sunning itself on a projection just above the surface of the river. In some manner the little fellow lost his balance and fell into the swift moving stream. His little companions on the bridge saw him sink and ran to the nearest house for help, but the time for rescue was long since past before anyone could get to the scene. From half-past ten o'clock, the time of the accident, until noon the agonized father and Walter Schumacher dragged the river for the body and dived to the river bottom, and Sheriff Appleby, Acting Chief Brown and Officer O'Connell lent what assistance they could without boats. A crowd of women and children watched the proceedings with deep interest. The bridge is in a very dangerous condition, many planks are missing. This afternoon the wooden mills were closed, the gates shut down, and the water lowered about five feet. Three additional boats were secured but the search for the body was still unrewarded at two o'clock.

Big Business on Cars: Over seven thousand passengers were carried on the city street car lines yesterday—the biggest day's business on record. Four thousand were carried on the interurban cars between the city and the show grounds.

Five in Jail: Five suspicious characters were picked up on the streets yesterday and placed in the city lock-up pending an investigation. Nothing incriminating was found on their persons but there was good reason to suspect that they were crooks who had followed the circus here.

The Republican party was born with the declaration that slavery was sectional or local, and that freedom was national. It has ever been a national party. Its politics benefiting every section and every man in the republic. It made its first successful contest for power in 1860 with Abraham Lincoln as its standard bearer. Secession followed. The war for the maintenance of the union was waged for four years, and such a contest of arms the world had never seen before, and perhaps never will see again. In the end, slavery was abolished and freedom became universal within the borders of the republic. With a bankrupt treasury and a bankrupt credit, the party, under the lead of Washington, went back to the policy of Washington and wrote upon the statute books the revenue laws imposing duties on imports that would produce revenue Profits, Not Benefits, Produce Strikes But the little politician cries out that strikes abound here and there in the country. Yes, they do, but contests that lead to strikes, where an adjustment is not made and where arbitration fails, are quarrels between organized labor and organized capital about the division of the profits. As has been well said by another many years ago, there were not many strikes when the Democracy had full power under Grover Cleveland, because there were not profits to divide. There are profits to divide now, and with a people who work shorter hours and who are on the average more fully employed, and with a larger wage than was ever paid in the history of the human race for a similar amount of work, they will not be led into destroying that policy which renders these things possible because of a local trouble here and there touching a division of the profits.

But it is alleged that great industrial combinations have been formed and overcapitalized, and that they

INTEREST INCREASING DAILY

Great Enthusiasm Shown By Friends of Contestants Striving For Gazette's Free Trips to the World's Fair.

People are entering into the contest recently inaugurated by the Gazette for a Free Trip to the World's Fair, St. Louis, with considerable spirit. Votes have been coming to the office for candidates and there are a goodly number to the credit of the various contestants.

The prize is well worth an extra amount of hustle: A week's outing at the greatest Exposition ever attempted in any country, absolutely without cost and without the loss of time, including every convenience one could desire, is not an every day occurrence.

The premium in votes for new paid in advance subscriptions is large, and a little time spent each day in looking around for people not already subscribers will result in much good.

The wife of the most popular man, if he has one, goes to the Fair with him and she can do much toward securing the outing for both herself and her husband. The ladies are already doing considerable hustling and the result of their work will be a big factor.

The list of men given herewith is a popular one. Every man has many friends who will do their utmost to aid in securing for them the trip.

ELMER DOVER, SECRETARY OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

and at the same time protect every citizen of the United States in diversifying the industries of the republic. It was a contest for free men and for free labor everywhere within our borders. The policy of protection has been the abhorrence of the Republican party from that day to this. Under this policy, from an insignificant manufacturing country in 1860, by leaps and bounds, while we still remained first in agriculture among the nations of the earth, we have become more than first in manufactures. More than one-third of all the manufactured products of the whole earth is produced by American capital, by American labor, which works shorter hours than any people on earth, and has more steady employment than any people on earth, and on the average receives, conservatively stated, one and three-fourths dollars compensation where similar labor elsewhere receives but one dollar.

We are one harmonious whole, and if one or more of the great industries is injuriously affected those engaged in that line of production cease to be valuable customers for all the other producers in the country. If we did not sell one particle of our immense products outside of our own borders we would still have the best market of any people on earth. It has been said, and truly said, that our market amongst ourselves is of greater amount and value than the international markets of all the world; and while our people are seeing to it that our foreign markets shall grow--and we are now the greatest exporting nation on earth--yet, it is absolutely necessary that we should see to it that we continue that policy which enables us to dominate our own markets and to continue the present and growing wage to our own people.

For more than 60 years the Democratic party has denounced protection as robbery, and their cry has been, sometimes, "A tariff for revenue only," sometimes for "Progressive free trade throughout the world;" but whatever the expression may be, they have always been ready, when clothed with power, to run the dagger into the protective policy. And such is still the position of that party. In the closing days of the late session of congress, Representative Cockran, of New York, preached the pure Democratic faith; and there never was in my recollection such a demonstration as came from the Democratic side of the house when, with flaming eyes and wild gesticulations and enthusiastic faces, they sprang as one man, with cheer after cheer, interrupting the business of the house until they could mark their approval of the policy in which they believed. It is true that in magazine articles and by careful speech and sentence, here and there, men like Senator Gorman, Representative Williams, and others, while denouncing protection as robbery, say that if the Democratic party is clothed with power it will not destroy the system overnight, yet they each and all avow that they will journey in the direction of a tariff for revenue only, and of free trade. In other words, if they are given power, the American manufacturer and laborer will be gradually starved to death instead of being destroyed at one stroke. It reminds me of one of Aesop's fables, where the wolves proposed to the sheep that they should watch the dogs, their natural protectors, and place themselves under the protection of the wolves. Does capital on the one hand and labor on the other, desire such protection?

Emperor William will not learn to play golf nor will he permit his ministers to play. Prince Henry plays a good deal.

College Sports.

Pole Vaulter McLanahan and Ralph Rose, New Stars, Pennsylvania Rowing.

One of the several college athletes to rise to national fame this year is Pole Vaulter McLanahan of Yale, who made his way into the select little circle that may rightfully boast of having cleared the bar at a height of more than eleven feet.

McLanahan is now intercollegiate champion in pole vaulting, and he and his friends are certain that he will establish a new record next year.

Another comparatively new man to coral honors was Ralph Rose of the University of Michigan. Rose broke the world's shot put record at the annual athletic carnival of the University of Pennsylvania, held at Franklin field. He is also a football player of marked ability, a baseball player, a sprinter and a jumper.

Charges of professionalism were made against Rose, but they were not proved to be well founded.

The oarsmen of the University of Pennsylvania are anxious to regain their lost supremacy. After having won so many of the intercollegiate contests they find occupying any place but first is a decided hardship.

Coach Ellis Ward believes his charges will win in the intercollegiate race to be held, as usual, on the Hudson river course off Poughkeepsie.

One of the reasons advanced to account for the poor showing of the Quakers at Poughkeepsie since 1900 is the influence of their trip to the Henley regatta in England and to Ireland.

Yale and Cornell "shumped" badly after they went to England, and perhaps there is more than a coincidence in it. It is argued that American crews trained only for four mile races are thrown out of their stride by the preparation for the Henley sprint of a mile and a third. English oarsmen have no difficulty in pulling the four miles of the Cambridge-Oxford race and later

McLANAHAN OF YALE, CHAMPION POLE VAULTER.

In the same season romping over the Henley stretch to the discomfiture of all foreign contestants. The difference is in the fact that English oarsmen are bred up to row because they like it, while the American college product is "machine made" to a large extent and lacks adaptability. However, this argument cannot affect the fact that Cornell long ago recovered from her "shump" and that Ellis Ward has his hands full with trying to turn out a Pennsylvania crew this year that stands a chance of living down the showing of last year, when the Quakers trailed in behind, not only of Cornell, but also Georgetown and Wisconsin.

Only three of last season's eight are left as a backbone for the Ward crew—Zane, Robinson and Dick. Zane is the last survivor of the splendid Henley eight and has been the best bow oar seen in a university shell for some time. This year he is to be tried at stroke and, because he has excellent physical build for the place and long experience, will stay there. Both Robinson and Dick are steady but not brilliant oarsmen, who were hammered into fair form last season and should be able to earn their passage this year. It is not a sensational nucleus at best.

Yet there is a strong feeling in the university that this is Pennsylvania's year on the Hudson, and this confidence in the turn of the tide will help Ward in his uphill task. The red and blue won three years on end at Poughkeepsie with the same coach and stroke, and there is no obvious reason why the material should not again be handled as effectively. The varsity squad has some useful graduates from last year's four and freshman eight. Crowell and Holbrook, stroke of the four, are strong candidates for seats in the eight, and York, the freshman stroke, may be able to give Zane a "run for his money" in a fight for the position.

GOV. LA FOLLETTE CHARGES CORRUPTION

Committee Probes Contest on His Assertion That Every Committee Member Has Been Approached.

Chicago, June 22.—Robert M. La Follette, the "fighting governor" of Wisconsin, threw a firebrand into the committee on credentials of the Republican national convention when he sent in his attorney with a statement that he would withdraw from the contest because "every member of the committee has been approached."

The executive of the Badger state did not mince words. He charged the members of the national committee who first passed on his case so severely and indicted their successors so plainly that for a time there was talk of making him prove his assertion or make other amends. The Wisconsin case was the first called because the committee on credentials hoped to clear it off the boards and settle it in short order, thus removing the main obstacle to an expeditious report.

The "def" from La Follette changed the complexion of the session materially. First enraged at his plain speech, the committee on credentials felt inclined to toss his statement back with a peremptory refusal to accept it. Next, they became anxious to have the governor make good his charges, and, finally, after many hours had passed and tempers had cooled, they appointed a subcommittee to look into the whole controversy, to examine the briefs and printed arguments, which the governor openly charged the national committee had failed to do, and to report to the full committee whenever it was ready.

NO BLAME FOR EDWIN C. MADDEN

Third Assistant Postmaster General's Conduct Not Irregular.

Washington, June 22.—The report of Assistant Attorney General Charles H. Robb on the investigation of alleged irregularities in the bureau of Third Assistant Postmaster General Edwin C. Madden in connection with the printing and disposition of specimen postage stamps has been submitted to the president and made public. It finds nothing improper in Mr. Madden's conduct and says the practice of the gratuitous distribution of a limited number of these books has obtained in the postoffice department ever since postage stamps were first printed. The report recommends that the practice be discontinued as "theoretically wrong from an administrative point of view."

AUXILIARY SLOOP IS BLOWN UP

Police Report at Least Two Persons Lose Their Lives.

New York, June 22.—An auxiliary sloop is reported to have blown up early this morning while coming up the bay. The police believe at least two persons lost their lives. The explosion occurred half a mile off shore, opposite Thirty-fourth street, South Brooklyn. Police from the Fort Hamilton station rowed to the scene. They found parts of a gasoline tank, an empty dory and two side pieces of an auxiliary sloop, apparently about forty-five feet long, but nothing to indicate the boat's identity. One shoe and a brown hat also were picked up.

Washington, June 22.—President Roosevelt received Cardinal Satolli, the special representative in this country of the pope, in the blue room of the white house. The cardinal was presented by Rev. D. J. Stafford, rector of St. Patrick's church, this city. Cardinal Satolli called merely to pay his respects to the president.

VARSITY CREW STARTED EAST

The last work on home waters will be taken by the University of Wisconsin crews today and the shells and paraphernalia will be packed and the start made Thursday for Poughkeepsie, where the badgers will represent the west in the great annual intercollegiate regatta June 23. Wisconsin will be represented by an eight-oared crew and a "four." The eight will compete in the premier contest of the regatta and over the long course of four miles. The quartette will compete in the two-mile race. The badger freshmen will not go east, owing to the fact that the athletic association is some $5,000 in debt and the voluntary subscriptions for the crews did not come up to expectations. The trip will be made via Chicago, thence over the Walworth road to Buffalo and from that city to Poughkeepsie the way will lie over the West Shore road. The badgers will be quartered at Poughkeepsie at the Riverview military academy clubhouse. President C. R. Van Hise and others from Wisconsin will watch the races.

Coach O'Dea has maintained a beautiful sphinx-like attitude all the season regarding the abilities of the Badger oarsmen, so much so in fact that he has been criticized as not sufficiently aiding in the subscriptions for money. It is known, however, that the Wisconsin crews this year, particularly in the most recent time trials, have been rowing in time much closer to the records than have any of the rival crews. This has been learned from talk which has percolated from the training quarters and from individual watches held on the time trials, but nothing has been announced by Coach O'Dea. He has occasionally in years gone by predicted Wisconsin victories and has learned the lesson of reticence. With the assurance that the badgers are rowing faster than the others up to the present time, and the favorable chance that gave Wisconsin all the good fortune in the drawings for places, the westerners securing deep water and the strongest currents, the badgers will certainly shine in the regatta, and the possibility is strong that they will carry off a first place in one of the races.

On the near approach of the start of the badgers for the east, Coach "Andy" O'Dea has selected the men who will represent Wisconsin and the west in the Poughkeepsie races. All are oarsmen of experience, except Ben Davis of Madison, a giant freshman, who developed wonderful strength and form with the sweep in his freshman year in the university. The crews as picked by Coach O'Dea are as follows:

Varsity eight-oared shell.—Stroke, R. L. Stephenson; oar No. 7, "Germany" Miller; 6, Captain E. L. "Pa" Jordan; 5, Van Melker; 4, Ben Davis; 3, Burling; 2, Bartelt; bow, Schumacher.
Varsity "four"—Stroke, Reed; 3, Bodenbach; 2, Dean; bow, Christman.

REVISE STATUTES FOR THE K. OF P.

A Committee Recommends Seventy Amendments—Proposed Changes Will Be Voted On.

A complete revision of the statutes of the grand lodge of Wisconsin, Knights of Pythias, may be made. The committee which had been working on the subject for over a year reported in favor of at least seventy amendments at the first day's session yesterday of the thirty-third convention at the Pythian hall, Uihlein building, in Milwaukee. The changes will be acted upon at the session today.

With a full attendance of 140 delegates consisting of 110 grand lodge representatives, thirteen officers and seventeen past grand chancellors, the convention was called to order yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The grand lodge degree was conferred upon 125 past chancellors, which was followed by routine work.

The session will end today with the election of officers. Morrison M. Gillett of Fond du Lac probably will be the next deputy grand chancellor. A number of other changes will be made. The next grand lodge convention probably will go to La Crosse.

The grand lodge of the Rathbone Sisters, an auxiliary to the Knights of Pythias, opened its convention at 236 West Water street, Milwaukee, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning with Grand Chief Mrs. Clarissa Penkally of Dodgeville presiding. Crescent temple drill team exemplified initiatory work to visiting members yesterday afternoon. The election of officers will be held today. The grand senior chief, a grand mistress of records and finance will retire and new officers for these positions will be elected. There are eighteen delegates attending.
